My life was profoundly affected by a Near-Death-Experience in December 2010, when a Redwood tree crashed through the roof of the cabin where I was staying, pinning me beneath it, wall & all. This life-altering experience has inspired me to step into my full potential and has empowered me beyond words. My focus is "Human Resilience", and my intent is to inspire others who may be facing a challenge and/or struggle themselves.

"My soul has stirred and more than knocked on a door...IT came in the form of a Redwood tree, crashing into my life and onto me. What are you doing? Are you present? Do you want to live? I mean REALLY LIVE...NOT JUST EXIST. Are you going to do, what you came here to do? I am here to remind you, so that you will NEVER forget." (Copyright Lena Atomika - Jan. 2011)

I am a multi-disciplined creative...photographer/actor/writer/dancer, with a BA in Interior Design (Kent State), who is inspired by life and being "in the moment". Many of my images are just that...improvised inspirations or "Spontaneous Art" as I like to call it. I take joy in creating images that are unique...taking natural & structured images, and giving them an abstract twist. I am inspired by human interaction with nature and our surroundings. There is much beauty to be found, and many lessons to be learned in our world. So my subject matter covers the gamut...from Scenic & Still-Lifes, to Portraiture & everything in between. There are no limits on the limitless....
